

Partnership For A Drug-Free New Jersey

In Cooperation With The Governor's Council On Alcoholism & Drug Abuse and the New Jersey Department of Human Services

Foundation for New Jersey

Dear Student Educator,

An alarming number of New Jersey's youth are intentionally abusing prescription medicine to get high.

As New Jersey battles an opioid abuse epidemic, a Partnership for a Drug-Free New Jersey (PDFNJ) study found that nearly one in three parents of New Jersey middle school students do not believe there is a link between pain killers prescribed for things like sports injuries and wisdom tooth removal and the rising use of heroin in New Jersey.

The study also found that less than 50 percent of parents feel they are knowledgeable about heroin.

But, perhaps most alarming is that the latest PDFNJ Drug Testing in Schools Study found 30% of Middle School students in New Jersey said using prescription drugs not prescribed to you "does not have any real health consequences or have only mild health consequences, but they're not serious or too long lasting."

In its continuing mission to assist New Jersey Parents to reduce the incidence of substance trial and use among our state's youth, the Partnership for a Drug-Free New Jersey offers the "Fifth Grade Parent Alert."

Since 1997, over a half million New Jersey families have taken advantage of this free program available to all schools throughout the state, which is supported by a grant from the Horizon Foundation for New Jersey.

Participating schools will receive a "Fifth Grade Parent Alert" pamphlet for each 5th grade student, and is intended to be distributed to those student's parents and/or caregiver. The "Fifth Grade Parent Alert" informs parents about the need to begin or enhance conversations about substance abuse, and also contains vital prevention resources, contact information for local prevention organizations, and websites for continuous education and awareness.

With one out of two children in New Jersey between the ages of 10 and 12 being approached to try alcohol or drugs, the time to act is now!

To request 5th Grade Parent Alerts for your school, please order online at www.drugfreenj.org/5thGradeParentAlert or complete the Response Form below and return by Monday, October 31, 2016. All teachers who participate in the "Fifth Grade Parent Alert" program and complete the post program evaluation will be entered into a drawing for a $300 gift certificate. The program evaluation can be found at www.drugfreenj.org/fifth_grade_principal.

If you have any questions, please contact the Partnership for a Drug-Free New Jersey at (973) 467-2100. ext. 14.
